

Your Sisters

With burdens to share
Loads to lighten
With comforting words
Your moods to heighten
We open our arms
To our sisters dear
We ask only
That you let us near
Let us celebrate your successes
Let us support you in your calling
Let us push with you against the blizzards of life
Let us pull with you through times of strife
Let us be the oxen to your wagon
The coats upon your back
Let us love, watch over, and strengthen you.
Let us be your sister.
Sincerely,
Your Visiting Teachers

“Visiting teaching has become a vehicle for Latter-day Saint women worldwide to love, nurture, and serve—to ‘act according to those sympathies which God has planted in [our] bosoms,’ as Joseph Smith taught.”<sup>2</sup>

- April, 2012 Visiting Teaching Message

Your Sisters

With burdens to share
Loads to lighten
With comforting words
Your moods to heighten
We open our arms
To our sisters dear
We ask only
That you let us near
Let us celebrate your successes
Let us support you in your calling
Let us push with you against the blizzards of life
Let us pull with you through times of strife
Let us be the oxen to your wagon
The coats upon your back
Let us love, watch over, and strengthen you.
Let us be your sister.
Sincerely,
Your Visiting Teachers

“Visiting teaching has become a vehicle for Latter-day Saint women worldwide to love, nurture, and serve—to ‘act according to those sympathies which God has planted in [our] bosoms,’ as Joseph Smith taught.”<sup>2</sup>

- April, 2012 Visiting Teaching Message

Your Sisters

With burdens to share
Loads to lighten
With comforting words
Your moods to heighten
We open our arms
To our sisters dear
We ask only
That you let us near
Let us celebrate your successes
Let us support you in your calling
Let us push with you against the blizzards of life
Let us pull with you through times of strife
Let us be the oxen to your wagon
The coats upon your back
Let us love, watch over, and strengthen you.
Let us be your sister.
Sincerely,
Your Visiting Teachers

“Visiting teaching has become a vehicle for Latter-day Saint women worldwide to love, nurture, and serve—to ‘act according to those sympathies which God has planted in [our] bosoms,’ as Joseph Smith taught.”<sup>2</sup>

- April, 2012 Visiting Teaching Message

Your Sisters

With burdens to share
Loads to lighten
With comforting words
Your moods to heighten
We open our arms
To our sisters dear
We ask only
That you let us near
Let us celebrate your successes
Let us support you in your calling
Let us push with you against the blizzards of life
Let us pull with you through times of strife
Let us be the oxen to your wagon
The coats upon your back
Let us love, watch over, and strengthen you.
Let us be your sister.
Sincerely,
Your Visiting Teachers

“Visiting teaching has become a vehicle for Latter-day Saint women worldwide to love, nurture, and serve—to ‘act according to those sympathies which God has planted in [our] bosoms,’ as Joseph Smith taught.”<sup>2</sup>

- April, 2012 Visiting Teaching Message